

Conclusions, Ramifications, and Scope

The enclosed application titled Virus Eliminator is described physically and functionally. This permits the elimination of viruses in the blood stream. The scope of the invention has many ramifications of being used in a clinical practice of medicine, including private physicians, hospitals and clinics.